CHEMUNG ARC DONATES TO CHEMUNG SPCA

ELMIRA, N.Y. — Sue Kirton spends every Thursday she is able at the Chemung County Humane Society and SPCA. So when the Chemung ARC community residents at Park Terrace were looking for a worthy cause to support, Sue suggested they raise money for the Chemung SPCA, and that's just what they did.

“We were so thrilled to hear that Chemung ARC chose to raise money for us,” said Barbara McLean, executive director of the Chemung County SPCA. “Volunteers like Sue help socialize our animals and assist our staff in their daily duties.”

Their initial fundraising goal was $100, but the residents of Park Terrace surpassed that goal by raising $300. The funds were raised by collecting and returning recyclables. This sum will allow the Chemung SPCA to spay and neuter six shelter animals, or provide one day of care for 30 shelter residents.

Allison Monnell, community relations director of Chemung ARC, states, “our staff and the people we support work diligently to make community connections that match interests, and the Chemung County SPCA is a favorite for us.”

About the Chemung County Humane Society and SPCA, Inc.

The Chemung County Humane Society and SPCA, Inc. is a private, non-profit humane organization. We provide shelter and a healthy environment for our animals; we educate the public about animal welfare and enforce animal welfare laws; we strive to reduce animal overpopulation by providing spay/neuter services; we advocate for the humane treatment of animals in the community and we promote the adoption of animals into responsible, loving homes. Since 1891, the CCHS/SPCA has been the only not-for-profit organization devoted to the care of the stray, homeless, abused and abandoned animals of Chemung County.
